Why did nursery deaths jump?

QUESTION · EXAMPLE

Why did deaths jump in nursery 3?

It's group N3-26-36 at NUR3: 8.4% dead by week 4 vs 2.7% expected. Losses peaked in weeks 1–2 and are coming down.

wk	dead	causes logged
1 (9/26)	63	scours, strep, starve
2 (10/3)	52	strep, starve, scours
3 (10/10)	29	scours, starve, strep
4 (10/17)	18	scours, starve, strep

Lab EX-26-104233 (in 9/22): PED detected, Ct 21.4. PDCoV and TGEV not detected.

Break-even and margin lock

QUESTION · PLANNED · EXAMPLE

What's my break-even on the June hogs? Can I lock in a margin?

Yes. Jun 27 hogs break even at $89.84/cwt vs $103.85 on Jun lean hogs, about $30/head to lock (EXAMPLE prices).

month	break-even	futures	margin/hd
Feb 27	$88.99	$88.65	-$0.73
Apr 27	$89.09	$92.40	$7.12
Jun 27	$89.84	$103.85	$30.12
Jul 27	$89.84	$104.20	$30.87

Break-even per head: pig $84.28 + feed $78.88 + other $30.00.

Did the PRRS results come back?

QUESTION · EXAMPLE

Did the PRRS results come back for SOW1?

Yes. SOW1 is still PRRS positive stable: antibodies, no virus found.

test	sample	result
PRRSV PCR	serum x30	0/30 positive
PRRSV ELISA	serum x30	positive, S/P 1.8

Case EX-26-097002, sampled 8/26 (quarterly monitoring).

For owners and barn managers

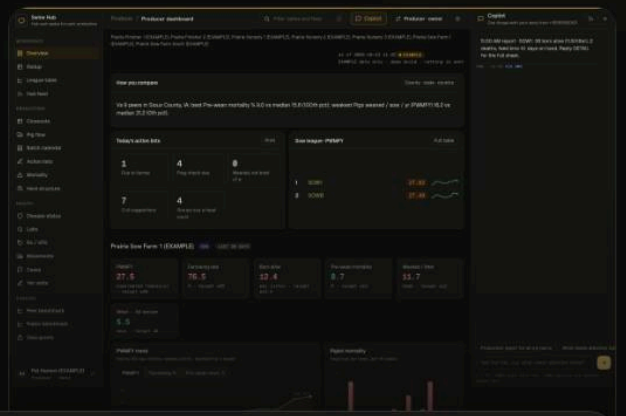

Know every barn by 5am, before you open a laptop.

TODAY

- Records sit in old software, spreadsheets and the office whiteboard.
- Barn data gets typed in twice, and reports show up after the pigs have moved.
- The problem barn shows up at closeout, when it's too late to fix.

WITH SWINE HUB

- A 5am text on every barn, with the problems flagged first.
- Text records in from the barn aisle. No double entry.
- Every site ranked, every closeout benchmarked vs your own sites and county, state and national peers.
- Pig flow, batch calendar, herd/NPD, mortality vs expected curve and barn action lists in one place.

The barn crew texts the hub; the web shows today's work for their site only.

Texting Swine Hub as Sam Ortiz, barn staff, SOW1 and SOWB (EXAMPLE). The app shows the same chat in detail.
EXAMPLE data from the Swine Hub demo build. Nothing is ever sent: drafts stay queued. Planned = the screen exists, the text answer is not wired yet.
Today the build answers the short phrase under each card, with a shorter reply; the casual wording and the layout shown are the target.

SECTION

Veterinary clinic

Health status, labs, alerts and visits across every client who shares health data.

Texting Swine Hub as Dr Vera Lind, Heartland Swine Veterinary Clinic (EXAMPLE). The app shows the same chat in detail.
EXAMPLE data from the Swine Hub demo build. Nothing is ever sent: drafts stay queued. Planned = the screen exists, the text answer is not wired yet.
Today the build answers the short phrase under each card, with a shorter reply; the casual wording and the layout shown are the target.

For clinic vets and staff

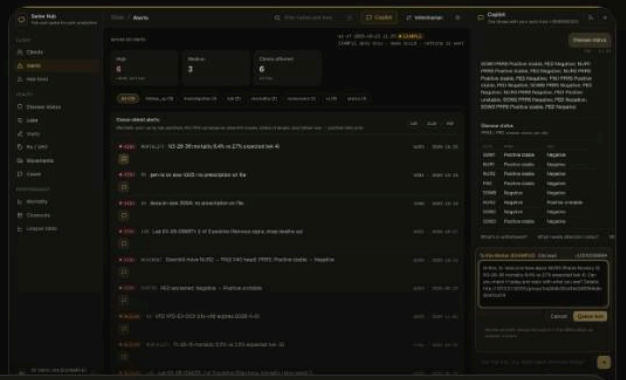

Less chasing paperwork. More time being a vet.

TODAY

- Client data is spread across each farm's system, email and phone calls.
- Rx/VFD paperwork and movement logs eat into your evenings.
- You hear about a mortality spike when the manager finally calls.

WITH SWINE HUB

- One client list with alerts across every farm that grants you access.
- Disease status history, labs and visit records with documents, together.
- Rx/VFD compliance flags and a biosecurity movement log, kept up for you.
- Tap the message icon on any alert and the copilot drafts a text to the right barn manager.

Draft by copilot · you review and send

Feed company

Requests, contracts, deliveries, mill and bin inventory, and a 12-week demand forecast by ration.

Texting Swine Hub as Fran Keller, Golden Prairie Feeds (EXAMPLE). The app shows the same chat in detail.
EXAMPLE data from the Swine Hub demo build. Nothing is ever sent: drafts stay queued. Planned = the screen exists, the text answer is not wired yet.
Today the build answers the short phrase under each card, with a shorter reply; the casual wording and the layout shown are the target.

Who's short on feed next week?

ALERT · EXAMPLE

Who's going to be short on feed next week?

LAC runs short from W43 on current bins and mill stock. Lowest bins right now:

For feed mills and nutrition teams

Make the feed the pigs will actually eat.

TODAY

- Orders come in by phone and text, often at the last minute.
- Demand forecasts are guesses from last year's spreadsheet.
- Bin levels are a mystery until the driver gets there.

WITH SWINE HUB

- Feed requests from producers land in one queue.
- Open contracts to negotiate and settle, in the same place.
- Delivery scheduling with ETAs, plus mill and bin inventory.
- A 12-week forecast of demand vs inventory, driven by real pig placements and growth curves.

Swine Hub · feed

New feed request: Site 2 finisher bins need grower ration by Thursday. Schedule it →

EXAMPLE TEXT

OUTCOME Fewer emergency loads, tighter inventory, and producers who know when feed shows up.

QUESTION · EXAMPLE

Is anything in withdrawal that I shouldn't schedule?

One group: WF-26A clears withdrawal Sat Oct 24.

- Don't schedule it before then

Build phrase today: What's in withdrawal?

For procurement and plant teams

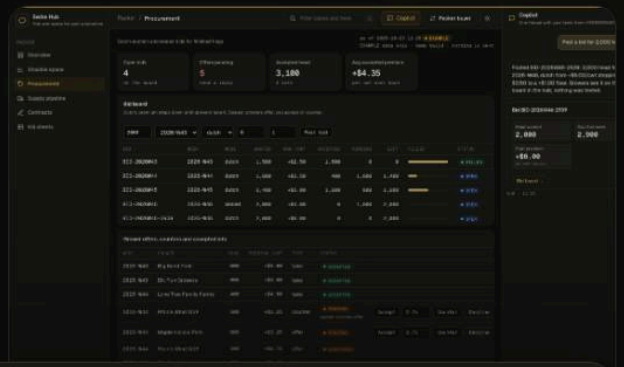

Fill every shackle, every week.

TODAY

- Weekly supply gaps get filled with phone calls and last-minute buys.
- You can't see which groups will reach market weight, or when.
- Contracts and kill sheets live in separate systems.

WITH SWINE HUB

- Plant capacity vs committed hogs, with the gap to fill each week.
- A Dutch auction bid board that wean-to-finish growers see and take.
- A supply pipeline of groups reaching market weight, shared with consent.
- Contracts and kill sheets in the same hub.

Futures hedging desk

Per-client break-even and lockable margin on EXAMPLE curves. Offers and tickets queue; nothing is sent.

Texting Swine Hub as Ivy Chen, analyst, Northfield Hedging Desk (EXAMPLE). The desk answers come from the in-app chat today; texting from a desk phone is planned.
EXAMPLE data from the Swine Hub demo build. Nothing is ever sent: drafts stay queued. Planned = the screen exists, the text answer is not wired yet.
Today the build answers the short phrase under each card, with a shorter reply; the casual wording and the layout shown are the target.
